Product Overview

The AdmitNation Platform enables Raw Lead Consultants to seamlessly share potential student leads and stay informed throughout the admission journey.

Raw Lead Consultants act as key partners who connect students with AdmitNation's counselling team. Once a lead is shared, AdmitNation counsellors handle communication, shortlist the lead for further admission process while the consultant can track progress and earn commissions on successful admissions.

Key Capabilities:

- ✓ Share potential student leads with AdmitNation in a few simple steps
- ✓ Track lead status and monitor progress handled by counsellors
- ✓ View shortlisted institutions and admission outcomes in real time
- ✓ Access the wallet to view commissions and payment details
- ✓ Maintain complete visibility and transparency across the lead lifecycle

By centralising all these functions, the AdmitNation Platform ensures clear communication, effortless collaboration and reliable commission tracking for every shared lead.

Dashboard Overview

- After successfully logging into the AdmitNation Platform, users are directed to the Dashboard, the central workspace that provides a complete overview of leads, sources and key performance metrics.
- The Dashboard uses a tab-based layout, allowing users to switch between tabs to view either an overall summary or detailed insights of their performance and progress.

Tabs in dashboard

- Overall Summary – Displays an overall view of all data shown across the dashboard.
- Source – Analyse lead sources and filter by date to understand performance trends.
- Stage – Monitor leads at different stages of the admission journey, with date-based filtering.

Overall Summary

The Overall Summary sections provides a high-level snapshot of the user's performance and lead engagement metrics. It reflects aggregated overall data across all activities (for example, the past one year).

Each metric helps users quickly understand workload, engagement status and outcomes in the admissions process.

Metric Description

Assigned - Total number of leads assigned to the user.

Untouched - Leads that have been assigned but not yet contacted or acted upon.

Shortlisted - Number of leads shortlisted for potential admission.

Admission Pushed - Leads whose applications have been sent to the institution.

Admission Secured - Leads that successfully secured admission.

Admission Cancelled - Leads whose admission process was cancelled.

Follow-ups Completed - Number of follow-ups successfully completed by the user.

Pending Follow-ups - Number of follow-ups still due or awaiting action.

Stage vs Lead Chart

- Displays the distribution of leads across all stages eg., Untouched, Not Reachable, Callback, Warm, Hot, Cold, etc.
- Helps users identify which stage has the highest or lowest count of leads.

Admissions Chart

- Shows how many leads have been successfully admitted versus those still in process or cancelled.

Leads by Course vs Stages

A detailed table view listing how many leads are associated with each course, along with their distribution across different stages.

Column	Description
Course Name	The academic course (e.g., B.Tech AI & ML, MBA Marketing).
Total Leads	Total number of leads in that course
Leads in each stage	Untouched, Not Reachable, Callback, Warm, Hot, Cold, Lead Lost, Applied, Admission

You can use the Search by Course Name box to quickly locate specific programs.

Source Tab

The Source tab provides a clear overview of how student leads are being generated across different marketing and referral channels. It helps users identify which lead sources perform best and how effectively each source converts into admissions.

- Key sections Explained

Lead by Source Chart

- The bar chart visualises the number of leads generated from each source.
- Each bar represents a source such as Google Ads, Website, Meta Ads, Referrals or Organic.
- This visual helps users quickly understand which channels are contributing the most leads.

Conversion Rate by Source Chart

- The chart on the right highlights the conversion performance of each lead source.
- It shows how many leads from each source have successfully moved forward in the admission process.
- Users can use this data to focus efforts on high-performing channels.

Lead Source vs Course Matrix

This table displays a detailed breakdown of how different sources contribute leads across various courses.

Columns	Description
Course	Name of the academic program.
Google Ads / Website / Referral / Meta Ads	Lead count per source.
Total Leads	Combined total from all sources.
Admitted	Number of students successfully admitted for that course.

This matrix helps users:

- Compare lead quality across marketing channels.
- Identify which programs attract the most students from each source.
- Align marketing efforts with high-performing courses.

Tip:

- Users can use this information to prioritise engagement for leads coming from high-performing sources.

Stage Tab

This tab focuses on lead progress and movement through the Lead pipeline.

This view helps users quickly identify where most leads are concentrated — enabling them to plan follow-ups and actions accordingly.

Dashboard Interaction Tips

- Use the tabs at the top to move between data views quickly.
- Hover over charts to see exact data counts and values.
- Use filters and search options to narrow down your data and save time.
- The dashboard automatically updates as new leads are assigned or existing leads change stages.

Summary

The Dashboard acts as the nerve centre of the AdmitNation Platform.

It helps users:

- Understand performance at a glance
- Track sources and lead flow
- Identify areas needing attention
- Manage workloads more strategically
- A well-used dashboard ensures that users stay proactive organised and data-driven in achieving their lead conversion goals

Data Options

When uploading data through a CSV file of lead data, it is important to follow the required data structure format. This ensures that the system can read, validate and process your information correctly.

To view the correct data format:

- Go to Settings
- Open Data Options
- Browse through the available tabs to review the standard formats for each type of data
- Use these examples as a reference when preparing your CSV file
- Each tab provides the exact field names, data types and acceptable values, helping you create a properly structured CSV before uploading.

Purpose of the Data Options Section

The Data Options section in the left-side menu is provided to ensure user submit accurate, standardised values instead of random or inconsistent data.

Courses

A complete list of all available streams, degrees, courses and specialisations.

User can search and select:

- Valid stream names
- Accepted degree formats
- Exact course names

This ensures the student's academic preferences are captured accurately.

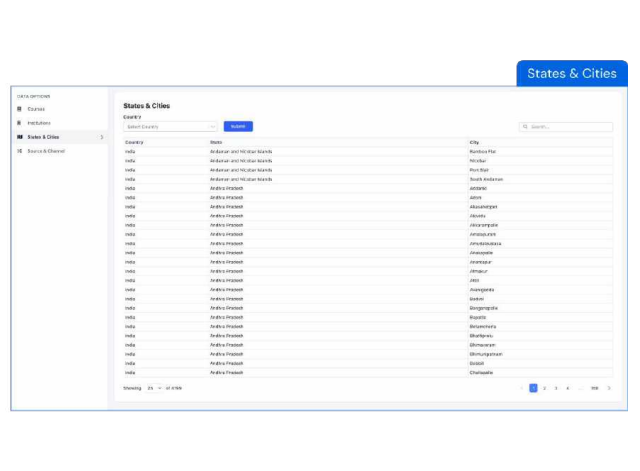
States & Cities

A master list of countries, states and corresponding cities.

User can use this section to:

- Ensure the correct spelling of locations
- Avoid sending unsupported or unregistered city names
- This helps maintain uniformity across all location-based data.



States & Cities
States & Cities

Source & Channel

A predefined list of acceptable:

- Channels (online, offline)
- Sources (Facebook, Google Ads, Instagram, chatbot, etc.)

User should use these values when tagging where a lead came from.

This helps tenants track and measure lead performance accurately.

Notes

- The Data Options section ensures clean and consistent data by providing user with a standardised reference for correct spelling, approved values, accurate lead categorisation, smooth validation and reduced lead rejection.
- If any of these fields are missing, the lead will be rejected and logged in the API response.
- Ensure all fields are sent in the correct format to avoid lead sync failures.

Lead Detail View

When you click on a lead name from the My Leads table, you are directed to the Lead Details Screen — your central view for monitoring each student's profile and progress.

While counsellors manage communication and follow-ups, Raw Lead Consultants can view every update in real time for complete transparency.
